King Charles III by Rishika HB15

Our new monarch (King Charles) is about to take the reins of our country, for some this is a very important day as the last coronation was 70 years ago! So for many this might be a once in a lifetime experience. Therefore we are doing a coronation edition, similar to the Jubilee theme we had last year.

Do you think you're for the crown?

As desirable as the role sounds, and as much respect or admiration you would receive, it comes with a great responsibility. And as straightforward as our previous monarch (Queen Elizabeth II) made it seem, it certainly is not! If you still presume you could take on that position then by the end of this article I guarantee you won't want to.

These are the responsibilities you would be in charge of:

You would get daily dispatches from the government in a secretive red leather box.

Briefings ahead of crucial meetings that you must be present at.

The hundreds of documents needing your royal signature.

But you would have a lot of power too!

You could declare war

Create peace between different countries

Appoint and dismiss ministers

Coronation Picnic

At school, we had a picnic for the coronation of King Charles the 3rd. Lots of parents came in which was great to see.

Loughton School Coronation Picnic

The picnic was on the 7th of March 2023 on a Friday but my parents could not make! It was sort of good because I got to meet my friend Aman's mother!

A picnic fit for a King by Rishika HB15

As you all know, we had a picnic last Friday to celebrate our new monarch's coronation. Many splendid snacks were brought in and we were joined by a few parents, too. Although we were meant to be enjoying in the sunshine outside on the field, we ate in the classroom as the weather wasn't exactly been on our side. It had been predicted to bucket down (with rain) like a waterfall so there were plans for the picnic to go on whatever the moody climate brought us.

As the parents filed in to our classroom, every child's face was a picture of pure hope as everyone pleaded that their adult saunter in, many unlucky children were met with a wave of disappointment. Not me though! My dad strode in like he had just won the lottery. He perched beside my me and my friends, then began handing out the scrumptious appetizers he had brought from home.

We were all chattering away merrily: trading sweets, sharing smiles and laughing at our silly jokes. Until the time came where our parents had to leave. At this point we were all stuffed with our food. So I was giving away the leftover desserts I had like as if it were to charity. Though we had fun, and that's all that matters.

CORONATION

Our New King & Queen

By Evie HB11

On Saturday 6TH May 2023, we have been given a new king and queen consort! We had a great school picnic where our parents came in and we made awesome flags about our king. What did you have at the coronation picnic?

King Charles III had to wait 75 years to have a coronation! Although this is a good thing, it's also very sad because his mother had to die for him to become king.

This time, it's twice as long as last time because we had two people to crown instead of just one. It was very diverse and it is very good because lots of different religions and races sang, danced and gave gifts.

Did you do anything for the coronation? Like going to a pub or going to a friend's house.

Did you watch the coronation? Or did you put in the background and just let it play?

Year 5's Royal Picnic

On Friday 5th of May our school had a royal picnic to celebrate his majesty King Charles III's coronation! Because it was raining, year 5 had their picnic in the hall. I had baked jam tarts before-hand and gave them to my friends. Everyone in the room were wearing red, white and blue (the Union Jack colours) and were very excited. Our parents were allowed to come in and eat at the picnic with us which was very fun and nice. The teachers tried to play some calming music however, we were so busy chatting and eating you could barely hear it! Here are some questions for you to reflect on the picnic:

What did you eat at the picnic?

Where did you eat at the picnic?

Who did you sit with at the picnic?

Who did you talk with at the picnic?

My Opinion on the Monarchy by Noah T HB6

You know some people hate the monarchy. Then some people (like Me) love it. You know, it makes me love our country. Mexico has Tacos, India has great food, Japan has great inventions and we have the best Royal Family. One thing that I don't like is that the oldest child is the next monarch. Why can't They just choose? What do you think? All you need to know from me is - I LOVE THE MONARCHY!

The Coronation Picnic by Adnan HB5

Remember Friday 5th of May yeah? Our coronation picnic was so cool and awesome! Whaddya mean you don't remember? Come on I'm sure you know, don't you? I will tell you fine!

At lunch our parents came. Before that 12 cakes were handed out by me. We all had to wear 3 colours. Red, white and blue. I was wearing my Scotland T Shirt, my Navy hoodie which says 'BEYOND EPIC', some jeans and of course my blue trail running shoes. I sat with Zak (my best friend) and his mother. When I was outside, I burst into joy thinking it was the best day of my life. See no learning, always having fun, and best of all you get to do whatever you like. (I don't know though). Why not enjoy the coronation while you're on your switch building your own coronation special eh? My parents couldn't come but I'm not sensitive so I didn't cry.

Queen Camilla by Ire

When Camilla and Charles were 22 they dated. In 1973 Camilla married Andrew Parker Bowles and had her first son Tom on 18th December 1974 and her second child Laura born on the 1st January 1978 but in 1995 they divorced. Two years later Princess Diana had her tragic accident, and another six years in 2005 later she married Charles.

Camilla has two rescue dogs called Bluebell and Beth. They were adopted in February 2017. Her favourite food is (believe it or not) baked beans on toast, peaches and fish and chips (not all at once though) and her favourite drink is red wine. Her hobbies include gardening, reading and swimming in the sea. Her favourite colour is bright blue.

The King's Coronation by Adnan HB5

Charles is the oldest child of Queen Elizabeth II. Charles was born in 1948 in Buckingham Palace at 9:14 pm. Charles is 74 years old and will be crown King on Saturday 6th May. I don't think he will be living for so long because he is already old! His wife, Camilla, will be known as Queen Camilla. If you don't live near the area where King Charles will be crowned, you can always see it on TV, your phone, your iPad, your computer or PC. The coronation is really special. But, every single store will be closed. Why? It's because stores are closed on special days. So you'd better get prepared for the coronation on Saturday! Show some respect for his majesty. Then enjoy the coronation on the 6th May. I'm going to celebrate the coronation with coronation decorations, coronation cake and I will build a coronation special on my switch in Minecraft! I'll tell you more about the Minecraft Coronation Special later on. Or I will just tell you now about the 'Minecraft Coronation Special'. So, lets go!
