Do you ever wonder what children get up to at lunchtime? If you do, we would like to talk to you. We are looking for an enthusiastic midday supervisor who likes to engage with children to join the Loughton School Midday Supervisor family.

Ofsted says our children are “interested and interesting” and that they “flourish as a result of the good care and rich learning experiences that teachers provide”.

Our governors recognise that SATs results are only one part of a child’s education and wholeheartedly support our vision to educate and nurture the whole child.

Our teachers say, “Every day holds something new and exciting.”

According to a recently Ofsted parent survey over 90% of Our parents say, “they would recommend our school to friends.”

Duties include:

- Supervising the children in the classroom with their packed lunches
- Ensuring that the children are safe on the playground by promoting positive play
- Administering first aid on the playground (training will be given if required)
- Setting up the tables and chairs ready for the hot lunches / putting the tables and chairs away afterwards

No experience is necessary, however the ability to interact with children would be advantageous.
